Morning Fire Hits Shoshone Stores, Office

The building occupied by the market and barber shop is owned by Mrs. Mary Chiles, Shoshone. The brick and cinderblock structure was covered by insurance.

Food Problem Hinted

A major problem for local residents as a result of the fire, however, was the status of their food stored in lockers at the market. Car and truck loads of food, valued at $500, were stored in the building. It is believed that the food was not damaged, but where to store it became a problem for patrons. The city has a room for patrons to store food, but only one other locker plant and most of its lockers are in use.

The fire flooded the structure and destroyed store basements, requiring use of two pumps.

The market's meat cases, grocers, vegetable crates and other items were ruined. The roof of the building was heavily damaged. The barber shop interior was damaged extensively and its equipment was destroyed.

Covered by insurance, the Shoshone market was insured for $100,000. The fire was caused by a gas leak in the kitchen area. The fire started in the kitchen area and spread to the rest of the building.

Leader Avers Hands of Law Officers Tied

mentioned he did not believe the legislature meant to tie the hands of the law. He said he believed the legislature was trying to tie the hands of the law.

Calder City Atty. William P. Gray said the new code would affect the entire handling of traffic offenders, and Calder planned no change in its procedure.

Reached at home, Gray said that although it was subject to further study, "I don't think it would be done by the legislature's committee."

State Rep. David Doane, R. Ada, chairman of the state affairs committee, termed Gray's original opinion "unwisely strict," and said it leaves ordinary citizens more power to make traffic arrests than an officer would have.

He said he would have given a different interpretation if the legislature's action had left any room for it adding.

"When you're interpreting laws relating to arrest, you have to interpret the rights of citizens are involved. Peace officers should not be encouraged to arrest and detain citizens without a warrant," he said.

Both Vernon and Doane said the situation pointed up the need for legislative counsel on some other interim step, to provide more technical and legal help to lawmakers.

He said he was not sure if the legislature would be effective only if a man "on the level" of a peace officer could be trusted.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Every Sunday this veteran Washington newspaper columnist writes for the Times-News a column of general interest, national and international politics and news. He has been writing this column for 15 years. His name is Walter D. Tucker, 608 North Main, Boise, Idaho.

WASHINGTON—Why are Eisenhower's financial and business experts so confident that we will not have another depression? asks M. H. Roemer, a Washington correspondent. He has had some time to think about the cycle to turn downward by all the laws of economic averages. Since 1900, and even earlier, we have had a boom every seven years, or thereabouts.

"Answer:—Almost every public and private economist forecast a serious postwar depression. Most figured it would strike us about 1950 or 1952, five or seven years after the 1945 boom. During that period, in their opinion, the customers would have been satisfied their war-built backlog of needs, and would have spent their money. Then they anticipated overproduction, swollen inventories, business stagnation, unemployment and a decline.

CALCULATIONS UPSET—Several unexpected international developments upset these calculations. The Truman administration undertook the economic and financial reconstruction of Europe and Japan. Lord notified Washington she no longer could carry this load.

General Marshall then proclaimed the policy of general economic aid to all nations for revival of European economy, including Russia. Finally, Truman expanded proposed budgets of $5 billion dollars to $10 billion dollars to take care of the war's aftermath.

These expenditures alone, politicians to the contrary, are responsible for our so-called postwar prosperity. With such an outpouring of money, no country could collapse. It has meant high taxes, huge public debt and high prices, an admittedly shaky structure. It is what might be termed prosperity by government decree and fiat.

WONT PERMIT DEPRESSION—Although the Republicans have criticized almost every domestic, foreign and financial policy of the Truman administration, they do not dare to tamper with it. They know that if a serious depression should occur on their time after 20 years of "democratic prosperity," and in view of the Hoover crack-up, they would be done for as a major force or party. They would go the way of the Whigs.

Not taking numerous chances from the Roosevelt-Truman political book, they will not permit a depression so long as they have the power to tax and spend. They will continue to make foreign loans, so as to maintain markets for industrial and farm products. They already have shifted from a tight to an easy money policy.

They have framed a vast, multimillion-dollar program of emergency public works, highways, schools, hospitals, etc. They will maintain generous farm price supports, minimum wage levels and expand the social security system as cushions against a hard fall.

OTHER SAFEGUARDS—Finally, there are other safety nets. The Federal Reserve Bank has $20 billion dollars. As a possible guarantee against bank runs and collapses, there is the system of government underwriting of deposits. Unemployment compensation is available for the wage earners of each family.

Thus, there is a political and an economic reason behind Eisenhower-Roosevelt assurances that no depression will occur in the immediate future. The GOP stays in power after 1952, that means we shall live relatively well for at least seven more years.

SENATE RACE—"Is it true," inquires S. F. Sandusky, O., "that the aged Albert W. Barkley intends to run for the senate next year?"

Answer:—No. Mr. Barkley misses the line-highly famous senator to leave Washington for his small-town home in Kentucky. Neither can Mr. Barkley.

Mr. Barkley, 62-year resident of Washington, I don't blame them for not wanting to become political refugees. And the "Vesp," as a senator, would be an excellent public servant, because of his 35 years as a legislator.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

PENSIONS FOR ALL—There is always someone who wants the government to take care of everybody, and that idea has now been injected into the study of social security expansion by Rep. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, chairman of a House ways and means subcommittee which is studying the expansion of the social security system. The Curtis proposal is to pay federal pensions immediately to almost all persons over 65 who are retired to the extent of earning more than $1,000 a year, increase the amount of payment substantially, and finance the project by applying the social security tax to the paycheck or other income of just about everyone under 65.

The Curtis plan is essentially the type of program at which the new deal and fair deal were aiming, an application of the idea that everybody who works should take care of everybody who doesn't.

The most sound principle of the social security system, as it now exists, is that the pension of a retired worker is based on the rate of his earnings and the length of his employment before he is retired. The plan by which this principle is put into practice is not altogether fair, but at least the principle exists.

Unquestionably the scale of social security pensions is low. It was pitiful at the beginning, and adjustments over the years have no more than kept it in step with inflation. If that is all, the Curtis plan is supposed to be an actuarially sound system, that is, it is supposed to pay benefits to a retiree out of funds built up by taxes on his own income. Most officials and legislators are now convinced that this idea must be abandoned because inflation has knocked it into a cocked hat. Probably there still are groups of workers who should be included in the coverage.

But in adjusting the level of pay, the area of coverage or the system of financing, one fundamental principle should be retained and that is the principle that an individual's pension is based on his record of earnings. It is that principle which entitles social security to be called a retirement plan rather than a system of handouts.—Bols Statesman.

SKYROCKETING POWER RATES—An action that may have far more significance in the northwest hydro-electric picture than any previously taken by the Eisenhower administration was ordered last week by the federal power commission. The FPC announced that only 5 per cent of the joint stock sales at McNary dam to be charged to navigation. As a result power sales will have to carry a far heavier load financially.

This decision contrasts with the fact that the FPC under a previous administration charged the same rate of joint stock at Bonneville dam to navigation. Yet the McNary dam is far larger, higher and more elaborate than that at Bonneville.

If the administration achieves the purpose of skyrocketing power rates in the northwest the economy of the region faces some difficult days. Pendleton East Oregonian.

NEEDFUL RULE—The new ruling of the national labor relations board that an employer who takes company time for examining the side of a labor dispute does not have to grant equal company time to union representatives is not more than the rule it replaced. The NLRB rule, in 1931, was under a government politically allied with union leaders. The present administration is allied with either side and seeks to be fair to both.

The NLRB's comment is that the obvious place for union officials to talk with their members is the union hall. The "free press" rule, which the NLRB says is the right to argue, but not to threaten, as provided because under the Wagner act if the employer said anything at all to employees the NLRB called it an "unfair labor practice."—Los Angeles Times.

It may be said to Magic Valley's credit, however, that with six fewer deaths on its highways during 1934, it accounted for more than half of the reduced number of traffic fatalities in the entire state last year.

Other communities and other states the country over are now following the example set by Magic Valley over a number of years. Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Washington, Oregon, and all the states along the Northwest seaboard, for example, are cracking down on traffic law violators with a determination never before experienced.

To all the more reason why we should continue our fight with even greater vigor—why we should display the "Traffic Safety Volunteers" emblems on our cars in a full spirit of cooperation and sincerity of purpose. Let's come to the conclusion more than ever before that HUMAN LIVES ARE WORTH SAVING, above everything else!

Pot Shots

Dear Sir:

At long last, I think I have hit it right: A regular gold mine. It all came to me in a flash the other day when I was going through the motions—trying to fool the boss.

Dehydrated water. You see, I thought his it with dehydrated water. So why can't I do the same thing with dehydrated water. On the surface of it, the dehydrated water might appear just a bit better. But study the matter for awhile.

First of all, we package a harmless, tasteless, easily soluble powder, labeling it "Dehydrated Water." The instructions will tell the purchaser to put a teaspoonful of the powder in a gallon jug and fill with water. Presto! You have a gallon of water.

Naturally, this discovery is intended for use of people who plan to travel in arid regions.

Yours truly,
Ira Snowball

Dear Sir:

We have six little puppies to give away to some nice little girls and boys who wanted a pet for Christmas and just didn't get one. They are cute little puppies and are just now ready to take away from their mother. We can't let them stay, so take care of them properly so we'd like to give them to latest Christmas gifts.

NO SECOND PRIZE

Come my day soon.
Perhaps by noon.
Oh, make it early morning;
For what a rush I'm in.
To perform at noon.
The days break into morning.

One day a year
Is all I fear
That I can stand this racket
For what a rush I'm in
To play the fair
If I hit the correct time bracket.

But my oh my!
I leave a sign
As if the event were started
For what a rush I'm in.
Am second, why try?
The prizes should be parted.

They should not go
To one that's so
We all have tried our darndest
For what a rush I'm in.
What shall I do?
No gain makes labor hardest.

OUR BULLETIN BOARD

Grandma, Twin Falls—Producers of the various counties in Idaho are supposed to consider the pinball machine a nuisance in January. So far as anyone being "fair" to operators who pay for slot machine licenses, do they ever give anyone a fair trial when it's impossible to beat the mechanical bandit?

NO PRIVILEGE A-TALL

Dear Sir:

My TV just gives a person no privilege any more. I have a neighbor with a new TV set and that is all he can talk about. Wonderful reception, clear as the sky, etc.

The other night he called up and said, "Have you got anything running?"

I pondered a moment and answered, "Well, only my nose!"

"Will you please shut it off?" I have got now on my screen and we are both on the same transformer," he asked.

WASHINGTON COLUMN PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (REAP)—Two important changes in U. S. anti-trust law are among the recommendations of the Federal Trade Commission's report on the anti-trust laws.

The first of these recommendations is that the Federal Trade Commission be empowered to make the discovery of facts in the case of an anti-trust case. The purpose will be to give the government more adequate discovery of facts prior to filing suit. At the present time the government must prove its case in the Federal Trade Commission. Grand jury investigations also may be used. They are considered suitable in criminal cases, but not in civil actions.

Pro-legal proceedings have been suggested by the Federal Trade Commission. While limiting such proceedings to relevant matters, the purpose of the recommended changes will be to give the government subpoena power, the right to punish for contempt and the power to punish for perjury for giving false information.

Another anti-trust procedural change likely to be brought before Congress is the proposed giving of the department of justice authority to make advance rulings. These rulings would be similar to the present rulings of the Federal Trade Commission, which give applicants exemption from third-party replevin damage suits and criminal actions.

The second recommendation is that the Federal Trade Commission be empowered to conduct foreign commerce cases in which American firms doing business abroad and foreign firms doing business in the United States are involved.

Questions on this extrajurisdictional phase of anti-trust law have arisen in cases like the oil cartel in which American firms doing business abroad and foreign firms doing business in the United States are involved.

The former case, it has been stated, if American courts have jurisdiction over every foreign action that is similar to the present ruling of the Federal Trade Commission, then every other nation may have jurisdiction over actions by American companies affecting them.

In the Imperial Chemicals DuPont case, a third party, British Nylon Spinners, Ltd., was affected. The court therefore enjoined performance of the U. S. court order.

All this creates international complications affecting U. S. foreign trade relations. Clarification will be one of the most serious matters to come before the new Congress.

Recommendations for both these major changes in U. S. anti-trust law are among the recommendations of the Federal Trade Commission's report on the anti-trust laws. This group of 16 lawyers and economists has been working quietly under the joint chairmanship of Assistant Atty.-Gen. Stanley N. Barnes, in charge of the anti-trust division.

Red Attempts To Bribe GIs Are Reported

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The communists tried to bribe American soldiers returning from Europe with money and goods, according to a report from the United States, officials said today.

They said reports reaching here from the far east indicate the reds also promised the American soldiers free college educations sometime in the future.

Reports were confirmed by the State Department. The reports were at least partially backed up by Pfc. Claude J. Mitchell, one of the 2400 American soldiers who changed his mind and left the reds one hour after the New Year started. He told newsmen at Panmunjom the communists promised him a college education, almost anything.

Some of the youths are believed to be afraid to come home, fearing punishment for their actions in the prison camps by former buddies who have been freed by the reds. Others may be refusing freedom because of family troubles or other reasons.

Boyle Comments on Pitfalls of New Year 'Goodness' Pledges

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 2—If the road to hell is paved with good intentions, a fine new six-lane superhighway between here and hades was opened today.

It is paved with the New Year's resolutions of perhaps 100 million Americans to lead better lives. Practically everybody makes these resolutions except women, small children and non-talking dogs, all of whom either already are perfect or don't know the word resolution.

The only other exceptions are a few scattered old diehard accountants trying how to find a way to going to quit smoking on my kids, yapping at my wife and telling the boss he's a failure.

So he goes rambling on until he has a list of a dozen or so resolutions. What is wrong with them? Only this: All his resolutions have to do with things he is going to quit doing or things he is going to give up. But he doesn't put down anything positive he is going to do to take up the time he used to spend doing his wrong things.

The result? Before long he finds his new virtue as boring as a thirteen-year-old's movie on television. He becomes restless because he has thought of nothing constructive to do. Soon he lapses into his old evil habits.

A better approach to the problem of leading a better life is to make not a dozen negative resolutions, but a single constructive one—and stick to it. For example, you might make yourself this pledge:

"I hereby resolve to spend more and more time in bed during 1964."

Now this is a simple, healthy pledge that any man with fine instincts and reasonable determination can carry out. You might start out by spending five minutes more in bed, then increase it gradually until you are able to spend a whole day in bed.

This plan has many advantages. The longer you spend in bed the less time you will have to spend in bars and traffic jams, and the more time to think up nice things to say to the wife, the kids and the boss.

You will find that in bed it is more fun to chain-daydream than to chain-smoke. Yet will find you need fewer medicines. You will have to do fewer household chores. You can read all those books you always intended to.

In a stout bed you are safest from most kinds of accidents. It is also the best place to weather storms or floods, unless you are in a low-lying area, in which case it might be a good idea to be sure you have a mattress that floats.

The more money you spend in bed the more money you save. You need less food. Your feet will feel better and, in fact, you'll feel better all over. Remember the old saying, "A sound mind in a sound bed."

The more you stay in bed the more you will escape all forms of trouble

Travels Reported

KING HILL, Jan. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Russ Mommila and daughter, Betty, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Shaver, spent the New Year holiday in Nofia with another daughter, Mrs. Alton Collett, and family.

Mrs. H. O. Lips returned New Year's day from Wallace where she visited her daughters, Mrs. Harold Durfee and Mrs. Wilbur Elliott, and their families. and the ambulance of an overcrowded civilization.

The main thing is to fight back with an iron will against the temptation to get up. When you are able to spend a whole week-end in bed, you'll know you've got your problem licked.

By 1964 you'll be able to look up at the ceiling with a proud face. You have stuck manfully to your good resolution, and you are a better man in a better world.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

According to some young people, early marriages are becoming more and more popular. We hear of teenagers going steady and college students marrying and continuing their courses until graduation. The parents are supposed to support these young couples.

As a father to an older and different-thinking child, I am often aware that many of the students are too young to have a real understanding of matrimony and its responsibilities. A 19-year-old girl, who had become seriously involved with a boy two years her senior, said: "Don't worry about me, I can take care of myself. I know the facts of life."

It seems to me that the facts of life are precisely what these young people do not understand and in their ignorance, they are likely to create tragedy for themselves and their parents.

Young men appear to behave as though sex has been newly discovered, as something to shout about. History should teach them how mistaken they are. But they have no desire to learn, so they teach.

A marriage certificate without a thought for the future.

This is the cause of the staggering divorce record. Often when a marriage fails, it causes

Young people are apparently unaware that in a few years they will have changed greatly in their characteristics and desires. The happy prospects at 15, many a time turn out to be gloomy at 25.

A good many sorry mistakes might be avoided if parents started early in the lives of their children to teach them the risks and responsibilities of marriage, to make the young people realize that sudden infatuations invariably have tragic consequences.

Sensible young people look forward to a wholesome and happy existence and to have the partners should be old enough to earn their own living—to pay their own way—without being beholden to their parents.

Hoople Closes Season in Blaze Of Glory; Misses Only 2 Bowls

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

The fans will still be talking next fall about the Hoople from the bench in the Cotton Bowl, the inspired upset win by Oklahoma over Maryland in the Orange Bowl, and the exciting finale of the Hoople formula in the special New Year's contest.

... goes out in blaze of glory.

In fact, only four contestants matched up in registering only two misses in the upset-riddled menu of bowl games.

Crady R. Spradling, Buhl, was possessed of the genius of the great Hoople in the regular season's weekly contests, we came off with no losses and a draw and a psychological victory.

It was the most one-sided victory ever registered by a western team in the history of the charity classic, founded Dec. 26, 1935.

There was no doubt as to the superiority of the western stars as they took charge with a 78-yard touchdown smash late in the first quarter.

Garrett directed the stunning offense after the West got the ball on downs on its own 23. He threw passes of 11 yards to Gary Knutzel, Colorado, and 17 yards to Jerry Norton, Southern Methodist.

Martin Wins Ruth Award For Play in World Series

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP)—Billy Martin, scrappy second baseman of the world champion New York Yankees, Saturday was awarded the Babe Ruth memorial plaque, voted each year to the outstanding player in the world series.

It marked the fifth straight year that the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America picked a member of the Yankees. Joe Page earned the honor in 1949; Jerry Coleman got it in 1950; Phil Rizzuto in 1951 and Johnny Mize in 1952.

It was Martin's single to center, scoring Hank Aaron in the final game, that gave the Yankees a 4-3 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers last October to win the series in six games. Even before he delivered the decisive blow, however, Martin had played the starring role.

Billy's final hit was his 12th of the series. That matched the greatest number of hits ever made in

Minor Injuries

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2 (AP)—There were only two injuries, neither serious—in Saturday's East-West Shrine football game.

Two East players were hurt in the fourth period. Right half Joe Johnson, Boston college, had the wind knocked out of him and quarterback Pete Stenhouse, was shaken up when knocked down while attempting a pass.

Neither required medical attention.

world series play. All the others, however, needed seven or eight minutes to recover. The 12-100 yard Martin did it in six games.

Martin batted an even 500 in the series, a mark topped only by Babe Ruth in 1920, when he batted .500 between the Yankees and Cincinnati in 1920.

The three-man team was chosen on the basis of a two-day tryout in which 14 of the nation's leading jumpers competed.

Alternates are Willis Olson, Denver University, Denver, Colo., and John Beckman, Kansas City, Mo.

Devlin, a member of the 1948 and 1950 U. S. Olympic teams; ex-World champion, won his team's first jump Saturday, measured 224, 225 and 212 feet and placed first in the two-day competition with a combined total of 674.5 points.

Wegman showed much improved form Saturday to nose Tolle out of second in the standings with 668.8 points. Wegman had been third at the end of the first day.

Tolle ended with 664 points. His jump of 227 feet Friday was the longest of the tryout.

Two Coaches Interested in Vandal Job

BOISE, Jan. 2 (AP)—Lyle Smith, Boise junior college coach, said Saturday he would be willing to consider coaching vacancy at the University of Idaho, and Eddie Cole, assistant coach at College of Idaho, said he had applied for the job.

Coach Raymond (Babe) Clurman and three assistants resigned recently after the Vandals won only one of nine games this season.

Smith, who has 65 wins, four losses and a tie at BJU, said he had not applied for the job, but his friends have been urging him to do so.

"I'm naturally interested in the athletic world at the university," Smith, an Idaho graduate, said. "If they want me, naturally I'm going to listen."

The Idaho Statesman said Smith would want a long contract, possibly as long as five years and would want to name his own assistant.

The university hires its coaches on a year-to-year basis.

Cole said he applied by letter this week to the basketball coach, "friends" and would be "delighted" to get the job.

In two years as head coach at College of Idaho, Cole had teams which won 14 games, lost five and tied one. He quit to become secretary of the Caldwell Chamber of Commerce, but was assistant to coach Sam Vokes this season.

Cole was said to be willing to take the job for one year, and ask the right to name Vokes as his assistant.

U.S. Experts To Appear in Dam Hearing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Federal government witnesses probably will be called to testify at the Hells Canyon hearing next week, the presiding examiner said today.

Examiner William J. Costello said the hearing of a witness from Washington state will make it necessary to call government witnesses earlier than was planned by the lower commission hearing on Idaho power company's applications to build three dams in Snake river along the Idaho-Oregon border.

Witness Ill
Costello said Bernhard Lomdot, Washington chief deputy attorney general, notified him that Holland Houston, power adviser to the Washington governor, had become ill and wouldn't be able to appear Tuesday when the hearing will resume following a holiday recess.

This means Costello told a reporter that John C. Mason, power commission attorney, will call witnesses either from the commission, interior department, agriculture department or army engineers.

Lomdot and Idaho power attorneys Tuesday will argue a motion by a public power lawyer who asked that Houston's testimony be thrown out on the ground, among others, that it failed to support Washington's application to intervene against a move to reserve the Hells canyon area for a proposed federal dam.

Houston has completed his direct testimony. He had been told to be ready to undergo cross-examination Tuesday in the event the examiner denies a motion for a continuance. Cooper, attorney for the National Hells Canyon association.

Expert to Testify
Mason had planned to begin calling expert witnesses Tuesday. Jan. 11, Raymond A. Hill, consulting engineer from Los Angeles, is scheduled to testify on that day.

Hill made an investigation of potential water depletion in Snake river last year for the interior department. Federal dam proponents claim his survey shows the river carries enough water for a big storage project without restricting future irrigation.

5,970,000 Get U. S. Benefits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—About 5,970,000 persons were drawing monthly social security benefits as of Dec. 31, the department of health, education and welfare estimated today.

The average monthly payments to retired workers without dependents was $40, while payments to retired married workers averaged $44 a month. Widowed mothers with two minor children who were covered by the program were getting a monthly average of $111.

However, for persons whose benefits were based on more liberal provisions set up in amendments after 1950 the averages were higher.

A retired person got an average of $66.63 monthly under these provisions; a retired worker and aged wife averaged $108.60 and widowed mothers with two children averaged $112.60.

The bureau of old-age and survivors insurance noted that the number of persons on the benefits rolls represented an increase of somewhere around 900,000 during 1952. The total has almost doubled in three years.

A major expansion of the program authorized by congress in the 1950 amendments.

Foundation Chief Opens Polio Drive

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is to begin an all-out drive on the disease today.

Foundation President Basil O'Connor in a nationwide broadcast inaugurating the 1953 March of Dimes campaign Friday night, said thousands of children in Pittsburgh, Pa., would be inoculated with a new polio vaccine in the start of extensive field tests.

Inoculations in February are to cost 75 million dollars, but that the development of the serum, brought the fight against polio to "the verge of victory."

The serum is to be tested on between 600,000 and one million second grade school children.

Scientific Studies Made to Determine Regions for Test of New Polio Vaccine

Scientific studies have been completed to determine the eligibility of Twin Falls county for testing a newly developed polio vaccine, Dr. V. V. Tard, southeastern Idaho district health department medical director, announced Saturday.

Studies are being conducted in all Idaho counties and throughout the nation to select areas for polio vaccine trials.

Tests were conducted by the state department of public health over the past four months. Results have been forwarded to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, according to Dr. Tard.

Trials will begin the week of Feb. 8. Names of the 200 counties to be selected will be announced soon.

The March of Dimes organization is receiving hundreds of requests from areas asking to be included. Second grade children will receive injections of the trial vaccine, reports Mrs. Frankie Alworth, Twin Falls. She is chapter chairman for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

No requests have been made for inclusion of Twin Falls county in the program since areas must be selected on a scientific basis, she emphasized.

Factors determining eligibility include high polio incidence rate for the past five years; high epidemic rate in the past five years during the June through September period; high attack rate in specific age groups to be inoculated; adequate health facilities to handle inoculations; social and economic conditions; population by age; urban and rural economy and geographic location.

State health officers will be responsible for the trials within their various areas, reports Dr. Tard.

The new polio vaccine has been tested on monkeys and some 6,000 people without incident. However, a sufficient number of people have been inoculated to permit a statistical evaluation, Dr. Tard said.

Scientists believe that the vaccine is the largest step toward the eradication of the disease.

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

There are three residents of HALEY who get to celebrate the New Year twice a year. They are Wong, Eddie and Louis, cafe operators. They celebrated the regular New Year Friday and in February will celebrate their Chinese New Year.

Eddie explains that the Chinese New Year is figured according to the moon and that he doesn't know exactly when the event will fall this year. He says he will have to wait until he receives a calendar from China. The celebration is a two-day event and usually falls between 40 and 45 days after the American New Year.

The three cafe operators will celebrate their New Year by eating pork and duck and a small quantity of Chinese delicacies such as shrimp, fruit, lotus and strips of coconut dipped in hot sauce. The delicacies will be sent to them from storehouses in San Francisco.

Since China is not permitted to ship to the United States the supply of lichee fruit and lotus leaves is limited. Eddie says both can be stored for as long as 50 years without losing their delicate flavor. Chinese brandy also is a thing of the past. The celebrants this year will have to be content with an American brand.

For a real celebration, Eddie says, one should go to San Francisco where the Chinese New Year rolls around.

This was not the case in the early days of Haley. Almost two days before the Chinese New Year, Haley had a large population of Chinese. Many times more than 300 natives of the Orient put on the Chinese New Year celebration that nearly rocked Haley to its foundations.

All stores, laundries and homes were lighted with red lanterns. The terms and omissions of Chinese firecrackers made Fourth of July celebrations examples of silence by comparison.

To their American friends the Chinese gave large quantities of money. In the early days of Haley, the Chinese were known for their love of money. They were known for their love of money. They were known for their love of money.

Hop Chung, who operated the largest Chinese store in Haley in the early days, was the "big boss." Both he and his wife were educated in Chinese colleges and each spoke fluent English.

Mr. Chung, 80, who knew the Chinese well, says he has a picture of Hop Chung's only son, Hsuey Hop Chung. The photograph was given to him when Hsuey Hop Chung left Haley at the age of 16 to go to school in China. He never returned to this country.

The Chinese New Year is not all fun. It also carries an obligation to enter the New Year free of debt. The only hanging in Blue county was that of a Chinaman who killed a fellowman over what is believed to have been a debt. At the Chinaman's trial it was shown he had a pocket full of money and a paper sack and then held the sack out for the victim to take. As the victim reached for the sack, he was shot in the abdomen.

The hanging occurred about a mile northeast of Haley. The victim was a "hangman's gulch." While friends of the doomed man decided to make things a little easier for him and proceeded to fill him with "pain-killers" so he wouldn't realize what was happening.

They made a mistake. They should have taken the "pain killer" for after they had placed the noose around the Chinaman's neck not one had the courage to pull the boards from beneath the Chinaman's feet.

Turning to his American friends the Chinaman said in broken English, "Hurry boys, hurry up. Let's get this thing over."

Another Chinaman who met his death in Magic Valley was Big Louie. Big Louie operated a restaurant in Haley but he was found one night in TWIN FALLS, his throat cut. It is believed he was the victim of a Tong war.

KEITHUM, at one time, also boasted of a Chinese population of approximately 80 percent. All are gone now, together with almost all the Chinese in Haley. Only Wong, Eddie and Louis remain.

Back in the early days of TWIN FALLS, there was in operation at MILLNER a firm by the name of Milner and Houston Navigation company.

The company had a full list of officers and a full board of directors but had the distinction of never having had a directors' meeting, never collected a cent of revenue and never declared a dividend.

But it issued passes to every railroad president in the United States. The company had a launch christened "Stella Perrine" and a scow by the name of "Mary McLean."

The scow carried only one cargo. It brought the brick to Millner for the construction of the Milner State Bank building and after the brick had been unloaded the scow was towed up river, never to be seen again.

Mrs. Theodore Marion, Gordon City, a former resident of DELO, believes in Santa Claus.

On Christmas eve her home and all that was in it, including a cat and a dog, were destroyed by fire. She and her husband and five children were left homeless. That was on Christmas eve.

By Christmas the picture had changed. They had been given an apartment, rent-free for one month and neighbors had erected a Christmas tree in the apartment and had piled food and clothing around it. One man sent them a check for $100.

And then, to make the Christmas complete for the five children, a merchant unjoked his store on Christmas day and gave the children more than $100 worth of toys.

Mrs. Marion is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hill, DeLo.

More Attention Paid in 1953 To State Sanitation Problems

BOISE, Jan. 1 (AP)—Idaho was more conscious of sanitation problems during 1953 than ever before, Idaho Public Health Engineer H. C. Clare said Thursday.

In an interview, Clare said, "Both municipalities and industry showed increased recognition of their responsibility to take care of waste and provide a safe and adequate water supply."

Clare and his staff said more requests were received during the year for help in setting up water supplies. An improved attitude toward refuse disposal was seen in adoption of a garbage-burning plant in Lewiston and consideration of a similar plan as a cooperative venture of Nampa and Caldwell and Canyon county.

The health official said consumption of pasteurized milk, as against raw milk, increased, showing "increased recognition by the consumers of the greater safety in use of pasteurized milk."

The city of Blackfoot finished a new water system during 1953 and Orofino finished a water filtration plant to filter water from the Clearwater river. Arco revamped its well-water system and installed a water-treatment plant.

Sewers and sewage treatment plants were begun in Craigmont and Garden City and additions were started on the sewage treatment plant at Mountain Home.

Kimberly will open bids in mid-January on construction of a sewer and a treatment plant and Shafterville on a treatment plant.

Only Montpelier was added to the list of Idaho cities flooding their water supplies during 1953, although several cities took such action in 1952. Clare said Orofino, St. Maries and Council are planning fluoridation very shortly and others are expected to follow suit during 1954.

Club Meets
HAERMAN, Jan. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pond, Michigan, were speakers at the meeting of the Exchange club of Gooding county Tuesday evening in the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Pond, architects, are working on plans for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Teater, Mrs. Nellie Rogers, Mrs. Evan Anderson, Mrs. Mel Prince, Mrs. W. W. Carson and Elaine Anderson served the dinner. The club will hold its next meeting Jan. 13 in Gooding.

Confusing
WORCHESTER, Mass., Jan. 1 (AP)—Two women said they had been living in the same home with Robert A. Rousseau, each thinking she was his wife and other his "housekeeper."

Rousseau, 28, pleaded innocent to a bigamy charge and his case was continued to Jan. 6.

The former Ruth Laporte said Rousseau married her in Meriden, Conn., in March, 1944. He allegedly wed Shirley Marrah in Rome, Ga., last March.

Living in the same house in recent months, both women said he told them the other was his "housekeeper." Rousseau allegedly had two children by the first wife and the second presented him with a son last month.

Ex-Resident Buys North Idaho Spot

COEUR D'ALENE, Jan. 2 (AP)—The twin-wooded county lot becoming established to change ownership as a result of the ban on slot machines has been sold by Richard Graves and Lee Winn, Boise, to Bill Webster, Coeur d'Alene, a former Twin Falls resident.

The cafe, the Brunswick, was located on Thursday at midnight for the first time in its two and one-half year history.

Webster has been manager of the cafe since its opening. It has 40 slot machines.

RETURN FROM TRIP

HAERMAN, Jan. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Vern Lott and children have returned home from visiting their son, Donald Lott, in San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Lott also visited Mrs. Lott's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gibson, in Centerville, Calif.

Evidence indicates the Hereford breed of beef cattle was bred to produce work animals in early-day England.

AS YOUR MINISTER SEES IT

By LEE CARNEY
(Pastor, Jerome Church of God)

The old Romans called the first month of the year January after the name of their god, Janus. His name comes from a word meaning a door.

Janus was a great janitor who opened the door of the year, and the door of every human life.

The people and pagan priests prayed to Janus at the beginning of every day and when they began work. They also had a great festival for him on the first day of January, and finally they baptized the beginning of the year from his festival.

"Door of the New Year"

Janus had a temple in Rome. The gates of this temple were closed when there was peace in the land and they were opened during war.

A strange thing about this god who opened the door of the new year was that he had two faces. There was an old face looking backward, and a young face looking forward into the future.

Those Romans were right in thinking that someone did open for them the door to let in the new year. They were right, too, in seeking his blessing when they began any new work or entered the duties of a new day.

The real name of the one who opens the door of the new year is Jesus. It is He "that openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth and no man openeth." Jesus stands guarding the door and takes of his keys: "May you be looking forward with-during what Jesus has put in the new year for you.

One thing it will bring us is opportunities to do good and to get good. The Greeks thought that big word, opportunity, was a goddess. If you have not seen it some day you will see their picture of opportunity. You will notice that the person is bald behind, but with a little tuft of hair in front. They said that once opportunity went past anyone, not even Jupiter, himself, could catch her.

So you see, to use opportunity we must be quick.

I hope that everyone will look out every morning to see the bright shining face of opportunity, and that as she comes you will see her in your school, in your home, in your work, and as a guide in your business affairs. And remember that it is Jesus who sends opportunity to us, making a door for each

Pilot Errors Blamed for Two Major Plane Crashes in 1953

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board)—The civil aeronautics board has attributed two major air crashes of the past year to pilot failure to fly over or around storms.

The crashes were those of a non-scheduled airline's C-46 near Fish Haven, Ida., last Jan. 7, in which all 40 persons aboard were killed, and of a Delta air-line DC-3 near Marshall, Tex., May 17, survived by only one of the 20 occupants.

The C-46 which crashed in Idaho was operated by Associated Air Transport, San Antonio, Tex. It was carrying military personnel from Seattle, bound for Fort Jackson, S. C., with the first stop scheduled at Cheyenne, Wyo.

It had requested a cruising altitude to Cheyenne of 15,000 feet, and day through which we can go out to do good and to get good.

made its last radio position report over Malad, Ida., at 13,000 feet, with no mention of irregularities.

The plane was found five days later, 3400 ft. smashed on a ridge and gully at an altitude of about 8,500 feet, 43 miles east of Malad City.

Investigators found a strip of hard ice three feet long on the leading edge of one of the shattered wings. Their conclusion was that the plane entered the tops of clouds over mountains east of Malad, and "iced up" so badly the pilot lost control and "made an involuntary descent into an area of increasing ice and turbulence."

The CAB said weather reports indicated that at 13,000 feet the plane was in the top portion of the clouds, and could have flown over them by increasing its altitude not more than 500 feet.

It said this was verified by another flight which crossed the area a few minutes earlier without difficulty.

The board added that it is unable to state why the flight did not request and proceed to a higher altitude to clear the tops of the clouds.

Japan Given New U. S. Radar-Type Guns for Defense

TOKYO, Jan. 7 (U.S. Army)—The U. S. army revealed today that radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns now are being sent to Japan to help it defend against Soviet attacks.

The new weapon, a 77-millimeter gun nicknamed the "Skyweeper," was shipped to Japan last September, the army said, but its use here had been a closely-guarded military secret.

The army did not say how many "Skyweepers" have been set up in Japan, which the United States is defending under a military agreement.

Other flight which crossed the area a few minutes earlier without difficulty.

The board added that it is unable to state why the flight did not request and proceed to a higher altitude to clear the tops of the clouds.

2 new Low-Friction "Deep-Block" engines! GREATEST ENGINE ADVANCES SINCE THE ORIGINAL FORD V-8

The new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8

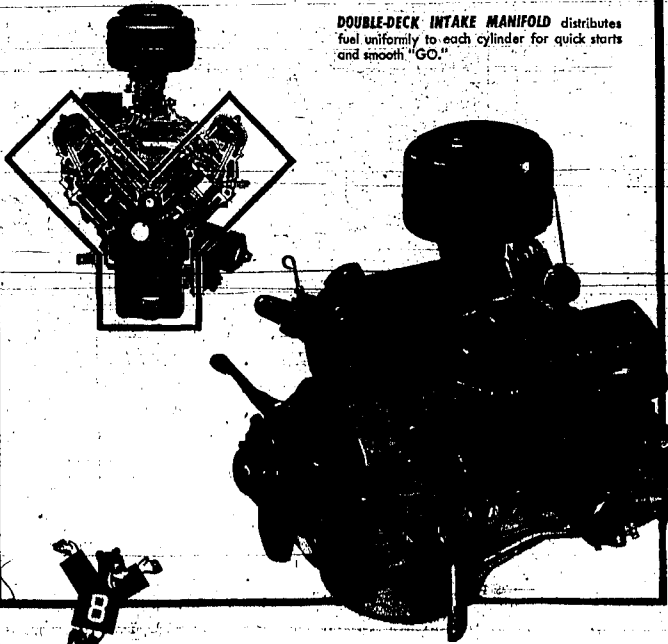

OVERHEAD VALVES are free-breathing for maximum power... "free-tuning" to seat tightly and maintain high compression.

SHORT-STROKE, LOW-FRICTION DESIGN means less internal friction... more usable power from every drop of gasoline.

HIGH-TURBULENCE COMBUSTION CHAMBERS thoroughly mix fuel and air, fog faster, more efficient combustion.

DEEP-CAST "T" BLOCK, with skirt that extends well below crankshaft, provides greater strength and rigidity for smoother, quieter performance and extra-long engine life.

DOUBLE-DECK INTAKE MANIFOLD distributes fuel uniformly to each cylinder for quick starts and smooth "GO."

The new 115-h.p. I-block SIX

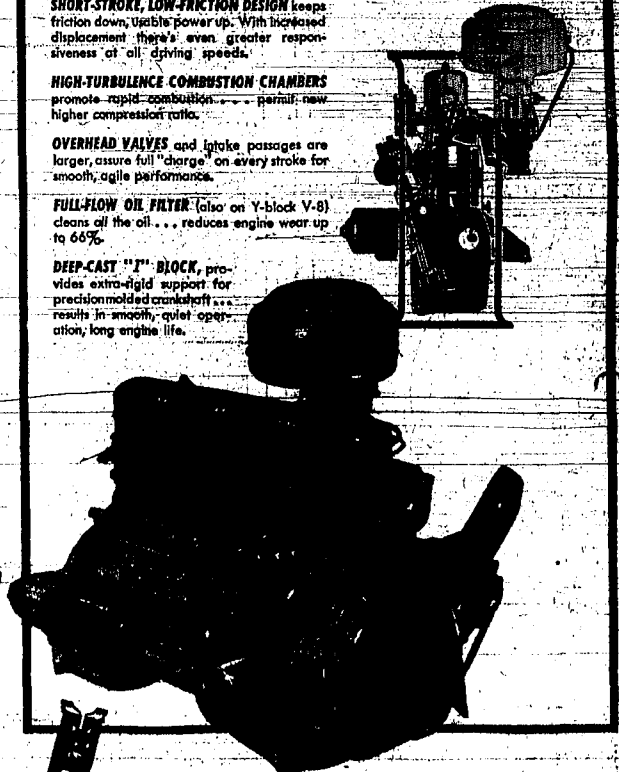

SHORT-STROKE, LOW-FRICTION DESIGN keeps friction down, usable power up. With increased displacement there's even greater responsiveness at all driving speeds.

HIGH-TURBULENCE COMBUSTION CHAMBERS promote rapid combustion... permit new higher compression ratio.

OVERHEAD VALVES and intake passages are larger, assure full "charge" on every stroke for smooth, agile performance.

FULL-FLOW OIL FILTER (also on Y-block V-8) cleans all the oil... reduces engine wear up to 66%.

DEEP-CAST "T" BLOCK, provides extra-rigid support for precision-molded crankshaft... results in smooth, quiet operation; long engine life.

COMING WEDNESDAY In the new '54 FORD

Again Ford makes engine news! The builder of more V-8's than all other manufacturers combined now introduces a brand new type of V-8—the Y-block V-8... together with the most modern Six in the industry—the new and advanced I-block Six. The exciting new 1954 Fords will be introduced at your Dealer's Wednesday. So plan to Test Drive a Ford with either of these great new engines. You'll discover new and more responsive "Go" throughout the whole range of driving speeds. You'll find the smoothest, quietest performance ever available in a low-priced car. You'll agree... these '54 Ford power plants stand out as the greatest engine advances since the original Ford V-8.
